“What convinces people to turn aside from destruction is empathy, and connection, and relationship, and love. Compassion and companionship save our lives. We can have all the theories and facts that we want, and it will not compare to living into relationship with God and one another.”

-Pastor Daniel Brower

Congregational Meeting-Update!

The congregation gathered together this past Sunday to prayerfully consider the future of leadership in this congregation. Rev. Dr. Barbara Sims-King was (finally) duly elected as co-moderator to serve alongside Rev. Dr. Stan Saunders. Together, our moderator team reminded us that our church is led primarily by her people.

The revised contract with Rev. Brower focuses on shifting our thinking toward a cooperative model of leadership alongside the pastor. Changes toward language of cooperation and coordination rather than sole adjudication and responsibility were reviewed and approved by the congregation. With a glad heart, Rev. Daniel Brower was re-called as our transitional minister for the next year.

Thanks be to God for a church that continues to diligently seek God's will and pursue God's kingdom in community. Amen!
